JOCKEY MARTIN SUSPENDED

Ball Players Seldom Hurt-Wood a Triple Skating Champion-Racquet Honors for Gould.

NEW ORLEANS, February 13.-Reckless riding marred the first race yesterday at the City Park track. It brought about the disqualification of the two-year-old colt Gresham after he finished first by a nose, a suspension to Jockey Martin, who was responsible for the foul, and the death of the Martin's determination to win with Gresham by fair means or foul was the cause of the trouble. From the start to the finish he smashed and banged horses about to secure a clear path to the finish.

Alverly was knocked down soon after the release of the barrier. Her left hind leg was broken and she had to be shot After this interference Martin took the lead with Gresham. When Princess Sue a 30 to 1 chance, ranged alongside and became a dangerous factor for the big end of the purse, Martin promptly banged into her and carried her to the far rall entering the home stretch. He won the race, but the judges set him back. Princess Sue was second and was placed first.

Tileing won the Rex handicap, worth $2,500, in a gallop. He was favored with only 96 pounds. This weight was so light that he fairly ran away from his field, which was made up of Peter Sterling, Lady Navarre, Ohiyesa, Alma Dufour and Devout. Backers of form had a disastrous day financially, as the seven favorites were

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., February 13. James Collins of the Boston Americans was ous to his departure for his home in Buffalo

It can be truthfully stated that, physically, Collins was never better in his life. His left knee, which troubled him during the latter part of last year, is as strong as the other. It has stood the hard mountain climbing which has been a part of his stunts without giving the least sign of weakness.

Collins now tips the scales at 169 pounds, having taken off twenty-one pounds since coming here. He will remain at his home in Buffalo until ordered to report to his team in Little Rock for spring practice.

BALL PLAYERS

ARE SELDOM HURT

BOSTON, February 13.-It is a most remarkable thing that of all the ball tossers engaged in professional base ball so few are hurt. Indeed, it is a matter of common remark that ball players seem to bear a charmed life. Boston has had a team representing the south end grounds in the recorded. In 1871 the Louisville club was to end a long trip by a game in Pittsburg, and as several of the boys were married men they wanted to get back home as soon as possible after the game. They went up to the manager and asked him to allow them to hurry the game in order that they might get the 6:10 train from the smoky city. The manager was much averse to this suggestion, but promised each player a couple of boxes of cigars if they captured he game. When the several players were efused the favor they felt somewhat aggrieved. They won the contest, however, and were given the cigars as promised. They lost the train they had wished to get and arrived home a few hours later, getting the 8:30 train out of Pittsburg.

"The 6:10 train, the one which they were so anytions to catch was wrecked and the so anxious to catch, was wrecked, and the Louisville sleeper practically demolished, sev-eral people being killed and many injured. The players became ecstatic with joy on their own lucky escape when they learned the news on arriving at the scene of the terrible accident. They awoke the manager, pulled him out of his bunk, and so great was their feeling of joy that they danced around him like a lot of happy school boys. They could not thank him enough for what he had done aithough at the time they were had done, although at the time they were rather inclined to be sore."

FREDDY PARENT WANTS TO BE A MAGNATE

Special Dispatch to The Star.

BOSTON Mass., February 13.-Freddy Parent, the brilliant little shortstop of the Collins team, is thinking seriously of becoming a magnate. Last night Manager Hugh McBreen went to Sanford to get Parent to sign a 1907 contract, but with the managerial "bug" buzzin' in Parent's head, McBreen is liable to find Parent a tough customer to do business with.

Parent is thinking of buying the Bidde ford franchise. Biddeford is to be included in the newly organized Maine State League, and the promoters are trying hard to get Parent to put some money and time into the new organization. Parent is a "wise" one. Perhaps he has no intention of buying the Biddeford franchise, but he wouldn't object to a raise in salary, and feels that he will win out if the local officials take his intention as

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE DROPS BASE BALL

At a meeting of the Sunday School Athletic Association, held last Monday night, it was decided to eliminate base ball for the coming season, but a renewal of the fascinating sport may be taken up again in 1908. The principal cause for the association's withdrawal from base ball is that the owners of the piece of ground at the head of 14th street have decided to cut it up into building lots, and the handicap of not having a home grounds was too much to be overcome. Although base ball has to be overcome. Although base ball has been eliminated the association will continue in existence and be very active in promoting other sports. Several field meets will be held, and as there is considerable money in the treasury a very active season can be looked forward to. The board of directors of the association have given out the following statement:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the Sunday School Athletic Association at the home of the president F. W. Bolgiano, it was unanimously decided that the ganized four years ago, when amateur base ball was at a standstill. The man-agement from the beginning sought to af-ford the public first-class ball, and to instill in the minds of the players principles of fairness and decency in the game. "The public and the players quickly responded to these efforts, with the result that a great impetus was given to high-class amateur base ball in this city. "In the last two years other leagues have been formed, based on the principles laid down by the Sunday School League, so that at the present time good amateur base ball is on a permanent footing here.

"The Sunday School League has, in a way, therefore, fulfilled its mission in stimway, therefore, fulfilled its mission in stimulating clean base ball and in setting high standards for those leagues which may come after it in conducting the game.

"The association consequently retires its base ball league for the present season with the idea in mind that if it again enters the field it will conduct a league only for boys permanently connected with the association, with possibly an age limit."

MAY ADOPT THE ELECTRIC SCORE BOARD

CHICAGO, February 13.-Electric score boards are likely to figure in the American League pennant race next year. It is also the intention of President Johnson to boost the umpires to a higher plane in civilization. In fact they threaten to becom "near" magnates. The score board idea will be an innovation and is calculated to take the place of the windmill motion proposed for the umpires.

President Johnson announced last night to join with the rules committee on Febru ary 24 in New York, in order to get all that was coming out of the rules. He be-lieves that the presence of the umpires will be valuable, as they are likely to be thought WILLIAMSPORT, February 13 .- Williamsport has conferred with the Boston management to the end that Robert Unglaub might be purchased from that club. The Bostons refused on the ground that he was worth more than $500, which Secretary field ever since 1871, has had rival teams in 1890 and 1891, has rival teams at the present time, and no player connected with any one of these clubs was ever killed while traveling. The nearest approach to it was when Charley Bennett, formerly a standby behind the bat of the Detroit club and afterwards with Boston, had both legs taken off while attempting to board a moving train in the west.

The other day Jack Chapman, whose base ball days date back to the sixties, speaking of this matter, said:

When the twirler last fall donned a policeman's uniform he said that he had decided to give up the use on the diamond. Very few persons, however, who knew the former Tri-State pitcher, be-

The track conditions were good and the spectators numbered thousands. Francis M. Clarke, secretary of the National Skating Association, officiated as referee. The track measured four laps to the mile and was thirty-five feet wide. In the big list of entries were found the crack speeders of the east, Canada and the metropolitan district. Morris Wood of the Saratoga Skating Club had things all his own way. GENERAL NEWS GATHERED

ON THE RIVER FRONT

With the Potomac covered with ice sufficient to fill all the ice storage houses here and at Alexandria ten times over, it is said to be like "carrying coals to Newcastle" to send to Maine for ice, but that is what the Mutual Ice Company of Alexandria has done, and the first cargo is expected to arrive at the Virginia town within the next week or ten days. Two large schooners, each carrying more than 1,000 tons of ice, have been chartered by the Alexandria ice men, and it is stated they have loaded and one of them has just sailed for the Chesapeake. Work is being pushed on the big ice house the Mutual company is building, in order to have it ready for the storage of the ice by the

The steamer Wakefield has been taken to the pier of the Washington and Potomac Steamboat Company, and is in readiness to go upon the route to Colonial Beach, Nomini and other points as soon as the weather conditions will allow. The steamer Harry Randall, which was withdrawn from service last week, is lying at the River View Line pier undergoing an overhauling. She will, it is stated, be out of service for several weeks, and will go to Baltimore to have some joiner work done.

The steam barge Dennis Simmons, which is lying ice bound at Alexandria, is being painted and given a general overhauling while out of service. It is expected that the steamer will be able to leave Alexandria this week for Edenton, N. C., and will there load a cargo of lumber and shingles back to this port. The Simmons has been making regular trips to this city for several years past, coming here in winter, and this is the first season she has been unable to follow the track made by the Norfolk Line steamers through the ice to Chesapeake bay and clear water.

At Bennett's boatyard workmen are employed in getting out of a large stick of timber two spars, which are to be used upon a vessel of the type of Susan Constant, Sir John Newport's ship, which is to form part of the historical exhibit of the Smithsonian Institution at the Jamestown tri-centennial exposition. The model of the old ship will be completed in about a menth, and will then be sent to Jamestown.

The sloop Water Lily and the pungy Ella Hill, which are lying out of service at Alexandria, are being made ready for the spring fishing season, and as soon as the ice leaves the river and the water warms up they will sail for the lower end of the Potomac to fish for bunch fish until the shad and herring run.

Citizens' Association Meets and Trans-

The Congress Heights Citizens' Associa tion met last evening in the town hall, on the Hamilton road. Mr. O. A. Emmons, the Fisher acted as the secretary. The committee on public schools, through its chairman, Mr. Gustave Bender, submitted a report on the prospective celebration of Washington's birthday anniversary at the Congress Heights school.

The question of having sidewalks laid on certain streets in the town was spoken of at length. It was decided that Philadelphia street should be selected as the highway most needing sidewalks, and the following committee was named to ascertain how many property owners are willing to have the proposed improvement effected: W. W. Price, A. E. McKay and Gustave Bender. Mr. Fisher called attention to the fact that President George Gould of the Wabash railroad has acquired a great deal of land recently in Virginia, with the intention of making certain railroad extensions, and the making certain railroad extensions, and the speaker mentioned as a fact beyond contradiction that Mr. Gould has expressed the wish of securing somewhere near the river a site for the erection of an electric lighting plant, and on which to build houses for his workmen. Mr. Fisher declared Congress Heights should be placed before Mr. Gould as a prospective site for this plant or for buildings for the workmen, and it was decided to write to Mr. Gould on the subject. Mr. Fillius reported having made on be half of the association a donation of food and other articles to the Bell Home for Children in Anacostia.

Mr. Fisher said his committee is at work on a new constitution and by-laws, which will be submitted at the next meeting.

LECTURE ON LABRADOR. Dr. W. T. Grenfell Appears Before

Geographic Society. Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell delivered a lecture before the members of the National Geographic Society and their friends at the First Congregational Church, 10th and G streets, last evening, his subject being "Labrador." He spent tifteen years among the deep-sea fishers who reside along the coast of Labrador, doing a great philanthropic and misionary work. He praised the people for their sturdiness and devotion to duty.

He also described the evils of intemperance among the fishermen and strongly advocated "Their life is one of danger." Dr. Gren fell said, "but the ordinary danger would be nothing if it were not for liquor. Fishers have started out on their annual trip to the fishing banks, but have fallen overboard and been drowned while intoxicated, leaving large families with no means of support. However, we have succeeded in passing an international prohibition act completely

Dr. Grenfell spoke for two hours and had more than 100 beautifully colored stereop-ticon views thrown upon a screen. The speaker told of Labrador itself; its people, their customs and the general conditions of life. The present general condition he at-tributed to lack of opportunities, and an absence of proper facilities for learning how to do even the ordinary things in the way of bettering themselves or relieving suffer-Dr. Grenfell served in several capacities while helping the people, chiefly as a mis-sionary, surgeon, master mariner, magis-trate, manager of a string of co-operative stores and lecturer. ASSOCIATION MEETS.
